Hi Hannah,

Yes. I had a call from a lawyer in the constituency yesterday who said he and other lawyers were very concerned about the potential for trust accounts and other accounts to be frozen or seized because of a potentially small contribution to the protest. He also said that financial institutions are uncertain how they are to carry out their role.

I expect a lot of this has been figured out, but thought I would pass on the concern.

Hi Catherine, someone told me that you had some concerns/questions about the finance measures from the Emergencies Act. Just connecting with you to see what you've been hearing.
